Vancouver Foodservice Distributor Starting Online Retail Sales

Due to COVID-19, SteBo's Food Service is opening their doors for retail sales to the public.

Vancouver, WA – April 13, 2020

Due to the Coronavirus and current shutdowns, SteBo's Food Service has temporarily opened their inventory to allow public sales. SteBo's launched an online order platform that allows customers to place orders and have their order picked up at our warehouse, contact free.

"We mainly service restaurants and convenient stores in the Vancouver/Portland area with the food needed to fuel their operations. With the shutdown of most restaurants and people staying home, we found ourselves with a warehouse full of food and employees available." said Steve Weiss, President of SteBo's Foods.

A Safe Way to Get Groceries

No lines, no crowds and limited human contact. Customers can order online and get their groceries brought to their car at the Vancouver warehouse. Customers do not need to get out of their car and can simply show their order confirmation and their groceries will be loaded directly into the car. Customers can order at www.stebosfoods.com/orderonline.

Founded in 2013, SteBo's Food Service has been servicing restaurants, convenient stores, daycares and more in the greater Clark and Cowlitz counties. SteBo's is based in Vancouver, a city they have supported since their opening.
